

Colin Finch

ACAS, MAAA

Associate Actuary

Current Responsibility

Colin Finch is an associate actuary with the Boston office of Milliman. He joined the firm in 2013.

Professional Work Experience

Colin serves a wide variety of client types. In particular, he works closely with those in the alternative risk market, including risk retention groups, public entity risk pools, captives, insurance exchanges, and workers compensation self-insurance groups. His primary services consist of loss reserving, ratemaking, funding analyses, and dynamic financial analysis. He has also assisted in the regulatory review of rate filings for multiple state insurance departments.

Since 2017, Colin has been working with small- and medium-sized insurance companies, most notably in the public entity risk pool market, to develop risk capital models in support of an enterprise risk management process implementation.

Professional Designation

- Associate, Casualty Actuarial Society
- Member, American Academy of Actuaries

Education

BA, Economics, Stonehill College

